

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
INTRODUCTION: TALBOT AND HIS ARCHIVE
Beyond Photography Mirjam Brusius and Chitra Ramalingam	i
Lacock Abbey and the Country House Archive Katrina Dean	25
MODELS FOR INVESTIGATION
Talbot's First Lens: Botanical Vision as an Exact Science Anne Secord	41
"Merely a Speculation of the Mind"? William Henry Fox Talbot and Mathematics June Barrow-Green	67
In the Shadow of Scott: Talbot and the Wizard of the North Graham Smith	95
INVENTION AND DISCOVERY
Nature as Drawing Mistress Herta Wolf	119
Talbot's Art of Discovery Vered Maimon	143
"The Caxton of Photography": Talbot's Etchings of Light Larry J. Schaaf	161

INSTITUTIONS AND NETWORKS

Bel and the Dragons: Deciphering Cuneiform after Decipherment Eleanor Robson	193
From Photographic Science to Scientific Photography: Talbot and Decipherment at the British Museum around 1850 Mirjam Brusius	219
“The Most Transitory of Things”: Talbot and the Science of Instantaneous Vision Chitra Ramalingam	245
Commentary Simon Schaffer	269
Key Dates in Talbot’s Scholarly and Scientific Life	291
Notes on Contributors	293
Credits and Sources	297
Index	299